THE SILVER FIGHT.

Every friend of silver must feel delighted with the strong influences favoring the cause in the East. The St. Louis Convention is going about its business in the proper way and in such dead earnest that it not probable that any Wall Street influence will be able to stem the tide now setting in favor of free coinage. Both of our United States Senators, who in reality are considered the big timber of the silver fight, are doing sturdy work for the cause. In another column is an off-hand talk made by Senator Stewart to the Convention.

The newspapers give the full text of Senator Jones' letter to Governor Stevenson. It is a ringing epistle throughout. Among other things he says:

"Nothing can be expected from the doctrinaires or the professional financiers, whose views of the sacredness of gold seems to have become an immovable superstition, and who, while worshipping their idol, close their eyes to the facts of daily life. They either do not or will not see that the falling prices of the last fifteen years are directly traceable to the contraction effected in the world's money by enactments of law, the purpose of which is to make gold the only measure of value."

A private letter from Congressman Bartine to a friend in this city, says that the real fight will be in Congress this Winter. The fight for the Speakership is waxing very warm, and the charge against Reed that he is an anti-silver man is telling. All the candidates are very anxious to secure the support of silver men; so much so in fact, that the support of a representative from a silver-producing State is valued by a candidate as equal to five votes from elsewhere.

It begins to look as if the silver moon was looming over the financial horizon, and the only clouds on the face of the beautiful planet are the votes of a few men from the silver-producing States for an anti-silver candidate.

INEFFICIENT MAIL SERVICE.

Not a newspaper published in the State of Nevada was received at this office yesterday. The mail from the East, which usually brings the Elko and Lander county papers brought neither, and the mail from the West did not bring a Reno, Carson or Virginia City paper, or in fact a California paper outside of San Francisco. Several subscribers to the San Francisco Examiner say they have not received that paper in two weeks, and a copy of the Virginia Enterprise of October 25th, plainly addressed "Silver State, Winnemucca, Nevada," reached this office last Monday, having been about thirty days on the way. Have the numerous removals for partisan reasons, made by the pious Philadelphian, Postmaster-General Wanamaker, impaired the efficiency of the mail service? What is the use of having fast mail trains flying across the continent save to accommodate New York and San Francisco, if letters and papers addressed to way stations are carried to terminal points? The mails should be run for the whole people; not in the interests of politicians who want to reward henchmen with positions in postal cars and post-offices.—Silver State.

The proprietors of the Stockton Mail suspended publication and ate a Thanksgiving dinner on the grounds that they desire to return thanks to the giver of all good, inasmuch as none of the staff have been shot during the past twelve months. The editors have had several narrow escapes, but they still live.

Hanging seems to be a failure as a mode of execution in Guelph, Ontario, as the victim writhed in pain and his death groans could be heard outside the jail. This is another argument in favor of electricity.

A dime museum trickster was killed in Lynn, Mass., while performing with a rifle loaded with a genuine instead of a bogus bullet.
